Base Rules are current IDPA with deviations. Following are the “standard” deviations from the IDPA rule book. Most have to do with stage design:

Targets may vary from IDPA Standard, including both size of targets and usage of IDPA non-allowed targets. Steel targets will be preferable, and will include more than those allowed by the current IDPA rule book.

Stage round count will be limited to 30 rounds per stage, except that one stage per match may require up to 50 rounds. But due to the current situation with ammo, this will be rare.

Moving targets may appear in random order.

Stages may require downloading of mags.

Mandatory reloads may be required.

COF requirements supersede IDPA Rules.

Target arrays may be required to be engaged in a specific order in the COF.

Specific order of fire (sequence) may be required.

Priority of targets may be set differently from IDPA requirements in the COF.

Low cover shots may be placed anywhere in the firing sequence of the COF.

Movement while shooting may be required.

The number of non-threats is unlimited.

Other deviations from IDPA rules will be as stated in the individual COF instructions.
